

Presenting Professor Geoffrey Crisp, BSc (Hons), PhD on:

Designing Interactive E-learning Assessments

Friday, October 3, 2008

THE UNIVERSITY OF WAIKATO
Tū Whare Mānanga o Waikato

Professor Geoffrey Crisp, BSc (Hons), PhD, is Director, Centre of Learning and Professional Development, and Director, Online Education, The University of Adelaide.

His current research activity includes online assessment, higher education policy and organisational and staff development.

Geoff is a HERDSA Fellow (2006) and Carrick Associate Fellow (2006-2007). His recent publications include the book The e-Assessment Handbook published in London by Continuum (Crisp, 2007).

A 60-90 minute presentation covering:

- ◆ Design principles for interactive assessments
- ◆ Examples of interactive e-assessments - taking things beyond simple multiple choice to make assessments meaningful and relevant to your subject
- ◆ Examples from a range of disciplines including physical sciences, health sciences, humanities and business.

For details visit: <http://www.ascilite.org.au/conferences/singapore07/workshops/crisp.html>

Supported by HERDSA

Register by completing an application form and returning to Teaching Development Unit, or register your interest by emailing tduadmin@waikato.ac.nz

REGISTRATIONS CLOSE: 12 September, Friday

OCTOBER 3, FRIDAY

11.00—12.30 Presentation

12.30—1.30 Light Lunch

1.30-3.00 Workshops or Individual Consultation (subject to interest—please indicate your interest on registration form)

Teaching Development Unit & Waikato Centre for eLearning